

WHITE APPOINTMENT BEING OPPOSED

DRY BUREAU POLICY SUBJECT TO ATTACK BY CONGRESS WETS

Wire Tapping Target
Of Rep. Tinkham;
Asks Reform

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The enforcement policy adopted by the new bureau of prohibition in the justice department was subjected to a withering fire from the "wet bloc" today as the house prepared to take up the annual supply bill for the justice, state, labor and commerce departments.

Having little hope of preventing increase in the prohibition bureau budget from $9,000,000 to $11,369,500, the anti-prohibition spokesmen directed their attack chiefly on enforcement methods being employed by Director Amos W. W. Woodcock.

Among the demands of the "wet bloc" spokesmen are, the bureau abandon the practice of tapping telephone and telegraph wires, issuance of prohibition propaganda, use of public funds to buy liquor, alleged setting up of government "speak-easies" and employment of informers or "stool pigeons."

The "wet bloc" stood committed to oppose the addition of 500 new agents, which would bring the force to around 2,000.

Rep. Tinkham (R) of Massachusetts, who dissented from the appropriation committee's recommendations, announced he would demand a reform in enforcement methods. He planned to offer several amendments to the bill.

"The appropriation bill carries $250,000 for the purchase of liquor and payment of hotel meals and similar expenses of agents who buy liquor," said Tinkham. "In other words, this fund assisted up on the taxpayers, constitutes a federal government slush fund for the commission of crime. It is a scandalous and indefensible expenditure."

"The bill contains an item of $2,000 for the purchase of stationery and supplies for undercover work. The use made of like appropriations in the past suggests the establishment of the government of officers where arrangements are made for the commission of crime and for the establishment of places for the illicit sale of liquor. A proviso should be added to the bill that no money is to be expended for such purposes."

Rep. Schafer (R) of Wisconsin, who obtained an investigation of wire tapping by the expenditure committee, announced he would offer an amendment to prohibit this.

"J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice has testified he will dismiss any agent who taps wires, and yet Director of Prohibition Woodcock defends the practice," said Schafer.

"The state of Ohio has a law providing imprisonment up to three years for wire tapping, and yet the bureau of prohibition is tapping wires in the vicinity of Cincinnati."

INSURGENTS HOPE TO FORCE $25,000,000 FUND FOR RED CROSS

PAYNE ASKS PROBE

Threats of Senators Thomas, of Oklahoma, and Wheeler, of Montana, to ask the senate to investigate the management of the American Red Cross brought "we invite an investigation," from John Barton Payne, above, chairman of the organization, at Washington. Payne declares the Red Cross has but $4,000,000 in its treasury and is spending this at the rate of $200,000 a day.

RELIEF RUSHED FOR SECTION STRUCK BY TEMBLOR IN MEXICO

Doctors, Nurses And Supplies Are Sent;
Many Are Dead

(BULLETIN)
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—Fifty-one residents of Oaxaca lost their lives in the same earthquake which rocked that city on Wednesday night, according to a telegram from the stricken city which reached International News Service today.

No official casualty list has been published by the government.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—A train load of doctors and nurses with medical supplies was enroute from here today to the city of Oaxaca, on the Pacific coast, where earth shocks caused havoc Wednesday night and from fifteen to twenty-five deaths.

Fragmentary reports reaching Mexico City indicated that nine out of ten buildings in the capital of the state by the same name were leveled by the temblor, with thousands of fear-stricken residents encamped in the open.

The epicenter was traced to Oaxaca, but disrupted communication facilities prevented adequate checks. General Evaristo Perez, military commander of the province, got the following message through to President Pascual Ortiz Rubio, however:

"The effect of the earthquake was almost total destruction of this city. The dead number around twenty-five and there are many injured. It is impossible for me to describe the panic-stricken situation in which the city finds itself. My own home, though strongly built, was totally destroyed and the furniture wrecked."

I have moved to the outskirts and am living in my automobile. Barracks and government buildings were destroyed."

Armed guards patrolled the ruined city to prevent looting, and relief squads continued to search the collapsed structures for dead and injured.

The ancient city, situated some 220 miles southeast of here, has suffered in many previous earthquakes. Its population totals some 60,000.

Appropriation Becomes Major Issue; Will Block Business

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A fighting Democratic-Insurgent coalition, rallying from a deadlock with President Hoover over the federal power commission, was prepared today to jam through the senate a $25,000,000 appropriation for the American Red Cross, despite White House opposition.

This appropriation, to be used in buying food for hungry citizens in every corner of the nation, has become a major political issue between the President and senate.

The coalition expressed an intention of forcing its acceptance, with a threat to block all appropriation bills to the end of the session. This gave the administration the choice of accepting the fund or a special session of the newly elected congress.

The coalition was certain to win in the senate, since it commanded a majority. The appropriation will be added as a "rider" to the $59,000,000 interior department appropriation bill. After that, it must be approved by the house before it can go to the White House for Mr. Hoover's signature.

If it passes the house, the President must either accept it or veto the bill, thus projecting a special session of the new congress, which would be even more friendly to the proposed appropriation.

After appropriating the money, the senate may launch an investigation into the financial status of the Red Cross. Charges have been made that the organization is "hoarding" $25,000,000, while issuing an appeal for more funds. The organization's officials announced this money was being retained against some future emergency.

They added that the practice has been to gather fresh funds for each new emergency, without touching the organization's resources.

This explanation failed to appease senatorial critics, who insisted the nation is facing a grave economic disaster. Many senators have demanded the organization spend its reserve funds now, and two—Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, and Wheeler (D) of Montana, suggested a senatorial inquiry.

Employment
Showing Gain

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 16.—Hundreds of previously idle men have been called back to work and several hundred others will be given employment within a few days in the Pittsburgh district, an announcement made today by local manufacturers said.

The resumption of operations of many plants in the district was hailed as a decided upturn in business and relief of the unemployment condition.

Another prosperity note was the announcement that the National Tube Co., a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, had been awarded a contract for 80,000 tons of seamless gas line pipe. The price involved was not announced but it was estimated to be between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Wales, Brother
On Plane Flight

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, started their trip to South America today, hopping off from Hendon aerodrome for Paris in the heir to the throne's private airplane. The Prince of Wales was not piloting the ship at the hopoff but he was expected to take the controls during part of the flight to Paris.

From Paris the royal brothers, going to South America as ambassadors of British trade, will proceed to Santander, Spain, from which port they will board the liner Oropesa on Sunday.

MAN FROZEN TO DEATH
ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 16.—Walter Cole, 65, who had been missing for several days, was found huddled beneath a pile of blankets in his shack here. He was dead. Police expressed the opinion today that he had frozen to death.

Prohibition Remains An Issue On 11th Birthday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—National prohibition celebrated its eleventh birthday today. The anniversary was observed in Washington by a flood of contradictory statements—the dries acclaiming its success and proclaiming its hardihood; the wets asserting its failure and predicting its eventual demise.

On the surface of things, the eleven years that have passed since Nebraska became the thirty-sixth state to ratify the great experiment seemingly have settled little. The lines between wet and dry are more sharply drawn today than ten years ago; feelings are more intense, and opinions more at variance.

Political parties are more divided. The keen edge of the prohibition controversy has cut into both major parties to a degree wholly unlooked for eleven years ago. The division in congress is but a reflection of the division that exists in the state governments and among the people "back home."

Meanwhile, a clinical report on the ailments of the eleven-year-old experiment is about to be laid on the White House doorstep by the distinguished jury of ten men and one woman, appointed by President Hoover to conduct a thorough examination of the prodigy.

The Wickersham commission has virtually completed its work. The report which it has so laboriously compiled after nearly eighteen months of investigation and research is on the government printing presses. It is expected to be in President Hoover's hands next week, and before congress.

WHITE FIRST OHIO GOVERNOR TO TAKE OFFICE WITHOUT CABINET

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 16.—As governor of Ohio, George White today occupies a niche all his own. He is the first chief executive of the Buckeye state who went into office without being surrounded by a complete cabinet.

When White took the oath of office last Monday he had established a precedent by failing to select three members of his cabinet—a health director, a prohibition commissioner and a director of industrial relations.

This trio was reduced to two late Wednesday when Governor White announced the appointment of Thomas A. Edmondson of Urbana, as director of industrial relations, succeeding Will T. Blake, of East Liverpool.

Hope was voiced today by the governor that he will be able to announce his selections sometime next week of the new health director and prohibition commissioner.

Explaining the governor's delay in picking his complete cabinet, state officials close to Mr. White said that the chief executive had been taking up his major appointments one by one and that he had not yet been able "to get to this work" but would do so immediately in the hope that the two remaining selections may be made within the next few days.

Despite this explanation, the report was persistent that the governor has been experiencing considerable difficulty in placating certain groups who backed various candidates for these offices, or had been unable to induce certain men, who he deems competent to adequately fill the positions, to accept this invitation to become a cabinet member.

It is understood that effort will be made to have the state legislature, during the present session, pass a law transferring the appointing power from the governor to the state health council in the case of the state health director for the purpose of removing that department as far as possible from partisan politics. If this plan is carried out, it was expected that the man who is chosen by Governor White will be retained by the health council as health director.

There is no definite confirmation of the rumor that the governor is seeking to have B. F. McDonald, Democrat, of Newark, former state prohibition commissioner, to again take this office.

Prohibition Commissioner Rupert Beetham, Republican, of Cadiz, visited the governor's office Wednesday and expressed his willingness to remain in office another week, if necessary, to enable Governor White to select his successor.

YOUTH SOUGHT IN STRANGLING

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Squads of police today conducted a city-wide hunt for the youth who waylaid Miss Eppie P. Moss, 41, in a small garage and strangled her to death.

Three friends of the woman, who chased the killer from the garage, said he was a youth of about 20.

Breaking into the garage the three persons found Miss Moss' body lying in front of her automobile. A cord, such as is used for sash weights, had been noosed about her throat in several loops and drawn tight. The woman died of strangulation, coroner's physicians said.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT WAS ALSO CALLED TO THE HOME OF EDWARD S. MORRIS, 302 E. MARKET ST., ABOUT 9:30 P. M. THURSDAY TO EXTINGUISH A ROOF BLAZE ATTRIBUTED TO A FLUE BURNING OUT. DAMAGE AMOUNTED TO $1.

THE LOSS IS PARTLY COVERED BY INSURANCE, ACCORDING TO MR. ANDERSON. REPLACEMENT VALUE OF THE BUILDINGS BURNED IS ESTIMATED AT $2,000 AND THE VALUE OF THE FEED AND HAY CONSUMED AT $900, WITH THE FIVE AUTOS WORTH MORE THAN $6,000.

MR. ANDERSON THINKS IT POSSIBLE A TRAMP MAY HAVE ENTERED THE BARN TO SPEND THE NIGHT AND THAT THE HAY MAY HAVE BEEN IGNITED BY A CIGARETTE.

WOMAN, CHILD BURNED WHEN FUMES EXPLODE

Mrs. Luella Blair, wife of Charles H. Blair, 53 Walnut St., suffered painful burns about the face, arms and legs and her niece, Jessie, 10, received slight burns on the face and one hand in an explosion in the kitchen of her home about 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Mrs. Blair had been engaged in cleaning a dress and fumes from the liquid she was using accumulated and exploded. All the kitchen doors were closed and a burner on the gas stove was lighted. The force of the blast was so powerful that the ceiling of the four downstairs rooms were raised three or four inches. Firemen were summoned but were not needed as the explosion was not followed by fire.

Dr. W. T. Ungard said Mrs. Blair was burned about the face, both arms and both legs up to the knees, while her hair and eyelashes were singed. Her most serious burns were on the right arm, the other burns being first degree burns.

Mrs. Blair, her niece and three other little neighbor girls were in the house at the time, Mr. Blair being away from home.

Five Autos, Hay And Clover Seed Lost In

A combination frame barn and garage, an adjoining private garage, three automobiles, two trucks, two smaller cattle barns, twenty tons of hay and twenty-five bushels of clover seed were destroyed in a blaze which also endangered the slaughter house of Clois Anderson, 219 Bellbrook Ave., at midnight Thursday, entailing loss estimated at nearly $10,000.

The fire, apparently originating in the large barn, spread rapidly to the adjoining garages and to the cattle sheds. Mr. Anderson was aroused by a neighbor who discovered the flames, and was able to release sixteen head of cattle and thirty-five hogs.

Cause of the blaze could not be determined but in the opinion of Mr. Anderson it may have been of incendiary origin.

The property on which the buildings were situated is owned by Frank A. Byers, 421 Bellbrook Ave. Byers, with his wife, and her sister, Mrs. Laura Boedker, are spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The hay, clover seed, two trucks and a Willys-Knight sedan, owned by Mr. Anderson, were stored in the large barn, as was a Ford sedan belonging to Mrs. Boedker, while a new Graham-Paige sedan, owned by Mr. Byers, stored in an adjoining private garage, was also burned.

The slaughter house is about twenty-five feet away and was not seriously threatened by the flames as the wind was blowing in the opposite direction.

The blaze was discovered by Bernard Stafford, Stafford hurried to the home of Mr. Anderson and, after calling the fire department, they released the livestock before the cattle barns were ignited.

When firemen arrived the blaze had gained great headway. Water was still being played on the smoldering ruins Friday morning.

The loss is partly covered by insurance, according to Mr. Anderson. Replacement value of the buildings burned is estimated at $2,000 and the value of the feed and hay consumed at $900, with the five autos worth more than $6,000.

MR. ANDERSON THINKS IT POSSIBLE A TRAMP MAY HAVE ENTERED THE BARN TO SPEND THE NIGHT AND THAT THE HAY MAY HAVE BEEN IGNITED BY A CIGARETTE.

LABOR FEDERATION FIGHTS SELECTION FOR CABINET POST

Thomas Edmondson
Target; Insurgents
May Join Fight

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 16.—Thomas A. Edmondson of Urbana, whose selection as state director of industrial relations aroused the protest of organized labor to Governor George White's breakaway from political tradition, today came to Columbus and walked squarely into the fight his appointment precipitated.

The Urbana man, who is charged by the Ohio State Federation of Labor of being an employer instead of an employee, and therefore ineligible for the post, came to Columbus for a conference at Democratic state headquarters.

Protests and threats to fight Edmondson's confirmation in the state senate here next week continued to pile up in the offices of Harry McLaughlin, Cleveland, president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor and Thomas J. Donnelly, executive secretary, here, by letter and telegram.

Reached by International News Service before he left for Columbus, Edmondson was unwilling to discuss labor's objections to him. He said he would probably have a statement later today, however.

The Order of Railway Telegraphers, with which Edmondson was said to have been affiliated before he became vice president and general manager of the Illinois Car Co., is a defunct organization, labor leaders here believed.

Governor White's defense of his appointment today was based on his attempt to get three labor representatives to accept the post before offering it to Edmondson.

The position had been offered to Donnelly, Thomas Duffy, Columbus, former member of the industrial commission, and Thomas B. Kearns, Columbus, in the industrial commission.

QUIZ POLICEMAN IN SHOOTING REPORT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Patrolman Leroy E. Batchelor was doing a lot of explaining today about the report made against him by police in nearby Virginia that he "fired a lot of shots" at his father-in-law, Lt. Edward T. Harney, chief of harbor police, because he refused to permit him to see his estranged wife. None of the bullets struck the lieutenant.

Members of Batchelor's own force came up with him when his automobile struck and overturned another machine. They charged him with driving recklessly and for failing to stop after an accident. He was suspended and after he is heard in traffic court he will be turned over to the Virginia police to explain the shooting episode.

MUTINY RESULTS IN MURDER OF SEAMAN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—A sea row between two firemen for the use of a coat hanger swelled to proportions of a mutiny and ended in the death of one of the firemen, a Negro, and caused the coastwise freighter, Nantuxet, to turn back to port here today, six hours after she had cleared Philadelphia for Boston.

The victim was Julius Walker, 24, of Baltimore. His jugular vein was severed with a jack-knife.

First indication of trouble came when Walker and Robert Parson, another Negro fireman, began arguing over possession of the coat hanger. A general melee in the forecastle followed and it was only quelled when the officers, armed with guns cowed the mutineers.

DOCTORED AUTO TAGS
ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 16.—Charged with pressing out the "6" in the 1930 so that it resembled a "1," and repainting last year's automobile license tags, Frank Dicken, Negro, was held in jail here today awaiting arraignment.

PROBABLY NEEDS IT
COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 16.—Prayerful aid from an outside source is being provided Governor White in his deliberations over the choice of a state prohibition commissioner.

Daily since Mr. White was inaugurated a woman's voice over the telephone has asked At C. Crouse, the governor's secretary, this question:

"Has Mr. White appointed a prohibition commissioner yet?"

After Crouse replies that the chief executive has been too busy to get to that appointment, the inevitable answer has been: "Well, please tell the governor that I am praying every night for him to make the right selection."

trial relations department, it was reported.

To the suggestion that Governor White picked Edmondson because labor was unable to agree on a candidate, Donnelly said labor was willing to accept anyone "truly representative of those who toil."

Names of G. W. Savage, secretary of the Ohio Mine Workers; O. B. Chapman, Dayton, a member of the federation executive committee; and Arnold Bill, Cleveland, secretary of the Carpenters' Union, were known by the governor to have been acceptable to organized labor, according to Donnelly.

Edmondson as state director of industrial relations will be waged by the Ohio Federation of Labor, labor leaders indicated here today.

Declaring that he was speaking for Harry McLaughlin, president of the State Federation of Labor who could not be reached, James F. Malley, secretary of the Cleveland Federation of Labor said:

"We feel labor should be represented directly in the man who holds the state industrial relations directorship and we intend to do everything in our power to see that such a man finally is appointed."

Malley said protests from labor unions all over the state were being received at the state and Cleveland federation headquarters.

"Organized labor presented the names of three men who were acceptable for that position to Governor White," he stated.

Views of other officials of the Cleveland federation were similar to those expressed by Malley.

PROHIBITION STILL ISSUE ON BIRTHDAY

soon after Mr. Hoover has perused it.

It is a voluminous report and it is a divided report as well. One of its authors described it today, rather deprecatingly, as "a compromise."

The commissioners agreed, it is understood, that prohibition was worthy of further trial under the new regime as set up by the department of justice. But as to whether the eighteenth amendment and the laws enacted thereunder are broadly capable of enforcement there was wide diversion.

President Hoover is expected to have the report in his hands next week. It has been authoritatively stated at the White House that he will almost immediately transmit it to congress. In so doing there are three avenues open to him. He can:

- (1) Transmit it with a letter of approval of the findings.
- (2) Transmit it with a letter disapproving the findings.
- (3) Send it to congress with merely a covering letter, expressing neither approval nor disapproval of the conclusions.

It was widely reported in Washington today that Mr. Hoover would choose the third method.

On the other hand, some observers felt that Mr. Hoover could hardly adopt such a negative course in view of the fact that the commission was of his own conception and creation. There are those, therefore, who contend that Mr. Hoover is in duty bound to accept the fruit of the tree which he himself planted and tended.

What effect the report will have on congressional policy with regard to prohibition cannot, of course, be forecast. Admittedly, the report will lose much weight by the fact that it is of a divided and compromise nature. It will reach congress too late for much consideration at this session, although a flurry of discussion and debate probably will accompany its debut.

The real fireworks will come in the new 72d congress—and quite probably in the hectic campaign of '32 some eighteen months hence.

JANITORS INVITED TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Janitors of all county school buildings under the supervision of H. C. Aultman, Greene County school superintendent, are urged to attend a special janitor's school at the Xenia Central High School building at 9 o'clock Saturday morning when L. O. Thompson, head of the janitor educational department of the Vestal Chemical Co., St. Louis, Mo., will deliver a lecture and give practical demonstrations on more improved methods of caring for school buildings.

A course of instruction on this subject was provided at Columbia University last summer and Mr. Thompson, who enrolled in the course, is making a tour of the country conducting janitors' schools.

How to SAVE MONEY ON
Out-of-Town Calls

YOU get the lowest rates on your out-of-town telephone calls when you simply ask to be connected with the distant telephone, and not a particular person.

Calls for a particular person (or person-to-person calls) cost about 25 per cent more than calls to a certain telephone (known as station-to-station calls). Person-to-person calls do not have reduced evening and night rates, as do station-to-station calls.

It's easier and cheaper to make out-of-town calls like local calls. Just give "Long Distance" the number and hold the line while she makes the connection.

Dayton Authoress Heard At B. P. W. Meeting

An insight into the writing of a mystery story—especially a detective story—was given members of the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday evening when Miss Helen Joan Hultman, Dayton, authoress and teacher at Stivers High School, addressed club members at their January dinner meeting at the First United Presbyterian Church, E. Market St.

Miss Hultman, who is author of the detective story, "Find the Woman," used as her subject, "The Making of Mysteries." "There is no technical, plot or character device used by writers of detective stories today that was not used by Edgar Allan Poe," she said. A detective story may be an exercise in logic and reason which is a detective story in its finest intellectual form, although lacking in thrills or it may thrill to the end and the logic may be weak, Miss Hultman explained. "Detective stories in the future," Miss Hultman concluded, "will be a complete study in psychology."

Dinner was served club members at 5:45 o'clock by women of the church. Tables were attractively decorated in a silver and red color scheme and lighted red tapers in crystal candlesticks were used on the tables. A "white elephant" sale was also a delightful feature of the meeting. During a short business session it was announced that a card party will be sponsored by the club, Friday, January 30, at the home of Mrs. J. W. Gibney, N. Galloway St.

The Misses Clara McCallum, Pauline Glavin, Edith Fawcett, Fay Lebetter, Katherine Kennedy and Clara Marshall were hostesses for the January meeting.

MEMBERS OF CABOT CLUB ENTERTAINED

Twenty-five physicians, members of the Cabot Clubs of Greene and Clark Counties, were guests of Dr. L. W. Sontag and Dr. P. B. Wingfield, of the research staff of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, at a meeting at the college Wednesday evening. Preceding the meeting a chicken dinner was enjoyed at the Antioch Tea Room. Mr. Arthur E. Morgan, president of the college, was a guest at the dinner.

Later the doctors adjourned to the laboratory at the Peis Fund House. A short business session was held and later motion pictures on surgical operations were shown by Dr. Henry Stevens, also a member of the research staff of the college.

A "poverty party" for members of the Berean Bible Class of the First Reformed Church will be given at the home of Mrs. Charles Bales, 33 W. Third St., Monday evening. All members of the class are invited to attend and are asked to come dressed in old clothes or they will be required to pay a fine.

Regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Post Hall, Court House. A full attendance of members is urged at the meeting. Hostesses for this month are Mrs. Clyde Kussmaul, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Mrs. Lawrence Fison, Mrs. Clara Bennett and Mrs. Guy Toms.

Mrs. Martin Bowman left Friday morning for her home in Coronado Beach, Fla., after spending a week here with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lauman, W. Church St.

The Junior Missionary Society of the Second United Presbyterian Church will meet at the church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A good attendance is urged at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper St. John, Dayton, formerly from near Xenia, spent Thursday with Mr. St. John's father, Mr. Alva St. John, Hussey Pike.

Miss Sarah Collins, Delaware, O., formerly of the O. S. and S. O. Home staff, spent Friday in this city with friends.

Mrs. Ira Williams, S. Monroe St., was reported to be in a satisfactory condition following a major operation performed at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Friday morning.

The Rev. Dale White, missionary to India, now on furlough in the United States, will speak on "India" at the union service of the First and Second U. P. Churches at the First U. P. Church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the service.

Mr. Clarence Whitmer, Chicago, is spending several days in this city as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whitmer, W. Market St.

Mrs. J. W. Ballantyne, N. Detroit St., who is critically ill from pneumonia at Expy Hospital, was slightly improved Friday afternoon.

Mr. Martin H. Schmidt, who has been confined to his home on N. King St., the past week suffering from erysipelas, is now improving.

Miss Frances Jack, Rogers St., student at Wittenberg College, Springfield, has been elected a member of the 1931 women's debating team of the school.

Home Guards and King's Herads of the First M. E. Church are asked to meet in the basement of the church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All children of the church are invited to attend the meeting.

Mr. J. R. Stephens, who is employed at Uhlman's department store, W. Main St., is confined to his room suffering from an attack of the grip and lumbago.

CLARA BOW IS JUST RECKLESS YOUNGSTER SAYS DAISY DEVOE

By MARIAN RHEA
International News Staff Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 16.—Maybe Clara Bow has had a lot of "boy friends," but Dr. Earl Pierston of Texas fame is the man she liked in her life.

At least Daisy Devoe, the flaming haired Clara's once-upon-a-time best friend said so today.

Daisy for almost two years lived with the temperamental "It" girl—dressed her, staged her parties, saw that she went to bed at night at a decent hour" and that she got up in the morning in time to go to work.

And was "darn fond" of her, too, she claims.

Now, of course, that is all changed. Daisy, no longer the treasured secretary of the celebrated Clara, is, instead, on trial on charges of stealing $16,000 from her, and Clara is the star complaining witness.

But Daisy still remembers a lot about the "It" girl's life and loves. "Of course there were boy friends—and boy friends, I might add," she reminisced, "but I am certain that Earl—you know, that Texas doctor—is the only man she was ever really crazy about."

"I could tell by the way she'd watch for his wires and letters—honestly, just like some little school girl who has got it bad. And she'd be peevish if they didn't come when she expected them."

"She would get confidential, too, and tell me how much she loved him. She still is in love with him, for that matter, too."

"It might have been a good thing if she'd married him," the blonde Daisy ruminated. "But then, I always thought he wasn't come to have a red-headed movie star for a wife. That's just my opinion, mind you!"

"Clara needs some one to look out for her, though. She's grown up, and she makes a lot of money, and is world known and all that, but she is a child at heart, just the same."

"Clara is a reckless youngster. Always has been. When I was there, I had trouble with her all the time."

Daisy, small dainty, weighing fifteen pounds less than the lively Clara, was talking now like some serious-minded mother, judiciously weighing the failings of her offspring.

"When I was with her," she went on, "I made her mind me, all right! That was the agreement."

"Yes, I know—" with a deprecating gesture—"she gave it to me hot and heavy when she got on that witness stand. But that's Clara. She doesn't hate me, really. She staged the fireworks only because Clara has got to be the main drag. She's got to be the center of the show."

"She said she felt bad to be giving me the works, and I believe her. I don't think the kid hates me. I think—well, if I should tell you what I really think about that Mister Bell and how he's got me in dutch with Clara, you couldn't print it anyway. It would burn up the paper. It was written on. But anyway he's to blame for all this!"

"Clara is a reckless youngster. Always has been. When I was there, I had trouble with her all the time."

THE "BEAUTY" THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN!

Nothing is sadder than a girl who just misses being beautiful. Often the reason is simple—improper elimination.

The poisons from constipation often cause pimples, sallow skin, dull eyes—headaches and even serious disease.

But every girl can banish the evils of constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. Its bulk sweeps the system clean.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are a wonderful health prescription. Try it with milk. Add fruits or honey. Delicious when combined with canned peaches. ALL-BRAN is non-fattening.

Ask for Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For I rejoiced greatly, when the brethren came and testified of the truth that is in thee, even as thou walkest in the truth. I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth.—III John, 3, 4.

NATHAN STRAUS

The name of Nathan Straus stands high on the roll of those who have loved their neighbors as themselves and have striven to do to others as they would have others do to them. On the day the boy Nathan determined to make it his principal business to serve his fellow men, a singularly full life began. In the beginning it was a life of struggle as well as of achievement. Later on, it became a life of realization of aims and ideals.

The fact that Mr. Straus may have given away between two and three millions of dollars is only a part of the story. The manner of the giving, the example set, the emulation inspired, counted for much in success and benefits to those who were helpless, poor, or suffering. The lesson in brotherhood regardless of race or religion inculcated by Mr. Straus by his acts was a beneficent influence on two continents.

Out of it all Nathan Straus garnered for himself a rich harvest of gratitude and affection, and if there is virtue in good works performed in singleness of heart, the portals of the hereafter have opened for him in a glow of golden light.

RED CROSS APPEAL

The American Red Cross is about to appeal to the nation for $10,000,000, as an emergency fund for the relief of destitute farmers in drought stricken states. The amount was agreed upon by the chairman of the national relief organization, Judge John Barton Payne, and Mr. Hoover, who is ex-officio president of the American Red Cross. There is no doubt that it represents the minimum needed for the purpose for which it is asked.

The manner in which the public responds to this appeal will determine more than whether or not the American people are still able to take care of their needy and are disposed to do so. The very life of the American Red Cross itself is at stake, as well as one of the most vital and cherished of our domestic policies. A faction in the senate is attempting to use human misery as a means of establishing the principle that the federal government must go to the rescue of destitute people in the several states with a dole. The failure of the American Red Cross' appeal for voluntary subscriptions to meet this need would vastly strengthen this faction's hands; and, if it resulted in establishing the principle of congressional relief, would put an end to voluntary support of our great national charity clearing house. A prompt and generous response to the appeal will silence Caraway and his ilk by proving that it is not necessary for congress to do for the people what heretofore they have always been ready and willing to do for themselves. An insidious danger to American ideals and institutions will thus be removed.

A condition of dire need exists in several of the states dried out last summer. The Red Cross has chapters and branches scattered throughout the destitute areas, which know the extent of the destitution and the nature of it. They afford the most convenient and dependable relief agencies that could be had. The money they will distribute will go to the deserving needy, without any strings. The Red Cross is not attempting to make itself solid with voters by appropriating money that will have to be recouped by taxes paid by poor and rich alike. What it asks is that those who have in abundance shall share their good fortune with those who, through no fault of their own, are in want and suffering. The appeal is to the brotherhood of Americans.

Suppose Mr. Hoover should say that whether congress passes the appropriation bills or not, there will be no special session, well, anyhow not until warm weather begins to set in.

The personages who perennially threaten a third party movement are making it very plain that they are not going to be forced into making good their threat.

The Milwaukee Journal hands out an assurance that there are less than 2,000 zither players in the country. The world does improve after all.

Ever since G. B. Shaw said that he makes Americans like him by roasting them, we have been wondering why it is he thinks we like him.

The members of the senate can help the return of prosperity by transacting their business, shutting up shop, and going home.

ALL of US

—By—
MARSHALL MASLIN

IF YOU LISTEN:

If you listen, you will hear a strange, sweet music in life. Sit in your arm chair alone in a room, and listen to the clock. Listen to nothing else. Soon you will hear a simple rhythm. The sound is not just one tick after another, measured and exact—but a regular beat and flow of sound.

Listen to life everywhere and you will hear that rhythm. You cannot miss it if you really lean over and cock your ear. Lie on your back in the grass beneath a tree. The sounds of the little people that live close to the earth will make music. That green landscape becomes a widespread symphony.

Look about you at the lives of all the people you know. You will hear or see that strange music. It is not all discord, not all a haphazard, higglety-pigglety of sound. It may be a light song, or it may be a deeply tragic one, but something is there for you to hear—if only you will wait a while—and use your ears—and listen!

It is there and it is yours, if you have but the patience to seek it. It may amuse you and tickle you to laughter. It may come crashing in like those immense green waves that thunder on our ocean shores. But it is there in all our lives and you cannot miss it.

I know a deaf man and you might say of him that music has gone forever from his life. But he can pick up black and white scores—mere ink on paper—and near all the music men have written. He is freed forever from dressing up and going out and buying tickets and sitting alongside people who cough, and waiting for the conductor to come in, and making his way home after the concert. He may sit in his little room and hear it all. He can read, he can listen, he can hear that music in his brain, in his heart . . . a strange, silent music of his own. Listen for such music.

THE QUESTION BOX

—Central Press Wash. Bureau—

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

What is the policy of the U. S. government in regard to the finding of buried treasure and what percentage of the total does it demand?

Though there are dicta to the effect that the common law as to treasure-trove applies in the United States (original common law in England held buried treasure belonged to the crown) such a right is seldom, if ever enforced. The present policy of the English government is to allow a finder to keep treasure thus discovered, less a small percentage of its value to be paid to the crown, unless it is valuable as an object of historical or antiquarian interest, in which cases it is claimed by the crown in order to be preserved in the national museums. By the treasure-trove act of India, if no owner is found, the finder is entitled to three-quarters and the owner of the ground to one-quarter of its value.

Thermite

Thermite is a composition of iron oxide and aluminum powder which can be touched off with either a fuse or a small charge of flashlight powder. The chemical reaction which follows takes the form of streams of molten steel, having a temperature of 5,000 degrees. Thermite is used to destroy icebergs.

The Father of His Country

Who said "Let us impart all the blessings we possess, or ask for ourselves, to the whole family of mankind?"

This was said by George Washington.

President

Which president of the United States was called the "Little Magician," and why?

"Little Magician" was a nickname of President Martin Van Buren, given because of his skill in politics.

Four Hundred

How did the expression, "The Four Hundred," referring to the elite of society, originate?

A chance remark of one of New York's most conspicuous leaders of society, Ward McAllister (1830-95) that New York's "smart" society comprised only 400 persons, was the origin of the term "The Four Hundred."

Brooklyn Bridge

What is the length of the Brooklyn bridge, and what was the cost of building it?

The Brooklyn bridge, with approaches, is 5,016 feet in length. The cost of this bridge was $18,900,000.

Harvest Moon

When does the Harvest Moon occur?

The full moon which happens on or nearest to the Autumnal Equinox (about September 23) is called the Harvest Moon because it rises from night to night during the full, more nearly after sunset than any other full moon in the year, and is therefore favorable for evening work in harvesting late crops.

Bo-Broadway

—By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE—

TAKING WALK FROM WALL ST. NEW YORK CITY, New York —

And who should come along just now, but Brother Newcomb Carlton, Head Man of the Western Union Telegraph Company, with a new-laid scheme of his own for bringing back Glory, where Gloom has pitched its tent.

"I suppose they'll accuse me of being a radical," says the Worthington Brother; "but if dumping of employees keeps up, a lot of us executives will be looking for jobs ourselves."

From there he goes on to refer to the fact that "democracy is an experiment," and says that one of the greatest difficulties confronting us is the task of making speculation safe for democracy.

"It's all right to tell the small speculator after a stock market crash that he shouldn't have been in the market at all," says Carlton. "The real remedy is to make it more difficult for him to get in."

THE HEAD MAN TALKS

Up to that point the Head Man of the Western Union talks sound sense. The trouble is he keeps on talking and, as always happens in similar circumstances, spills the beans.

"I'd suggest," he says, "moving the stock market to some place less accessible than Wall Street—Chicago, or better still, Kokomo, Ind." It might be all right to move the stock market to Kokomo, but you'd never freeze the little fellow out by doing that unless at the same time you closed up the telegraph and telephone systems.

A close study of an interview with a Head Man is always interesting.

ANOTHER 1931 WATER WAGON CASUALTY

POWER AND PROHIBITION DON'T APPROACH SLAVERY AS ISSUE

—CHARLES P. STEWART—

WASHINGTON.—"Political insurgency isn't especially rampant today; the Civil war simply is completely forgotten at last, and we're back to normal," according to Senator John J. Blaine of Wisconsin.

If anyone is competent to discuss insurgency, he is. I had consulted him relative to a theory of my own that, were it not for the prohibition issue, we could have two truly significant parties in this country. He disagreed entirely.

Prohibition, he assured me, has little to do with the present jumble state of affairs—assuming that there is a jumble, which, as indicated above, he does not consider that there is, particularly.

Anyway, most authorities do hold that, under our system of government, this ought to be a two-party country.

However, it is a long time since it has been in a real sense. Instead of facing one another across a sharply-discernible line, the two big parties fronts blend indistinguishably, while their outer edges fray off into a lot of bushywhacking little groups, some of which have more in common with similar groups beyond the indeterminate zone than with their own respective nominal organizations.

The main bodies consist chiefly of conservatives, varying in the way from the mild type to out-and-out reactionaries. The bushwhackers are liberals with few exceptions, also varying, from those of a comparatively moderate degree of progressive-ism to unmistakable radicals.

Now, suppose the two elements of conservatives could be merged, and the radical groups also amalgamated.

Ordinarily the conservatives would be in a majority, but occasionally the liberals would outvote them; now and then they probably would carry a national election. When they did so it would mean something for an administration's duration. When the conservatives were in control, that would mean something, too.

The mild conservatives would not be backward enough for the reactionaries and the moderate liberals enough for the radicals, but the strain between the two schools of thought would be in the right place, which it seems to me would be the natural thing; therefore desirable.

Yet the instant this idea is put to the test of an analysis, it becomes evident that prohibition would cut conservatives and liberals, alike, in two—wet conservatives and dry conservatives; wet liberals and dry liberals.

And four parties not only are too many; they are too small. None has the gravitational force of a larger body, to hold it together. Once split, each would keep on splitting.

Thus the prohibition issue is what keeps the parties chewed up, according to my logic. Senator Blaine happening to be readily available, I asked him what he thought about it.

"Nothing to it," he answered, promptly.

"In the first place," said the Wisconsin senator, "although the prohibition issue does, to be sure, split both parties, there is another issue, albeit an artificial one, which splits both of them still more irreconcilably: religion.

"Second, there are economic issues on which it would be impossible for them to divide two ways and two alone, even if it were not for prohibition and religion.

"For example, there is the power issue. Certainly Governor Pinchot is not in the same power camp with President Hoover. Yet Governor Pinchot opposes the governmentalization of power as vigorously as the president, but there are groups in both major parties which do demand governmentalization—a triangular fight right there, not to mention plenty more.

"As for prohibition, the voters can be made to forget all about it, temporarily. Religion will overshadow it any time. It does not figure nationally at every election, but it always can be harped on when the politicians need that sort of music to drown out something else which they prefer not to have listened to. In fact, it invariably predominates here and there, if not everywhere."

"Not since slavery was an issue," insisted the senator, "has there been before the whole people a question of sufficient appeal to divide them just two ways—solidly.

"There is none in sight now.

"Power is intrinsically important enough, but of insufficient popular interest. The average man realizes that there is such a problem only once a month, when he gets a small electric light bill. Is that likely to excite him greatly?"

"The war of secession left us," agreed the Wisconsin senator, "with two clean-cut parties—a heritage of the strife between the states.

"That prejudice lasted for more than a generation, during which we fell into the habit of considering a two-party alignment normal. It isn't. There are many shades of opinion amongst us. With the gradual disappearance of Civil war prejudice the intensity of party feeling gradually evaporated along with it—and independence, or insurgency, so-called, reasserted itself.

"Undoubtedly it existed before the slavery issue became paramount. And undoubtedly it will continue to exist until some new issue, equally compelling, evolves itself.

"I don't know what it will be. It isn't prohibition. It isn't power. Religion is only a substitute for it."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

—By MRS. MARY MORTON—

Spiced Ham Steak. Baked Apples. Baked Rice Pudding. Celery. Tea.

For economy's sake don't buy a single slice of ham. Buy a whole ham if your family is large, or half a ham, and have the butcher cut one or two slices off to broil or serve as spiced ham steak as suggested here. The rest may be boiled or baked and served hot, sliced and served cold, and the leftovers used up in various ways.

Today's Recipes

Spiced Ham Steak.—One slice ham, two teaspoons mustard, one-fourth cup brown sugar, two tablespoons vinegar, one-fourth cup water, two bananas. Sear ham on either side. Spread mustard mixed with brown sugar over top, pour vinegar and water into pan. Continue cooking on top of stove or in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes. After which cover with halves of bananas, sprinkle with additional sugar and bake fifteen minutes longer, basting frequently with liquid in the pan.

Baked Rice Pudding.—Wash one-third cup of rice, put in baking dish with one quart of milk, one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one cup of raisins. Put in the oven and bake slowly for a couple of hours, stirring once in a while until the milk is pretty well absorbed, when it may be allowed to brown.

Suggestions

Table of Amounts
Allow two teaspoons baking powder to the cup of flour. If the milk or cream is only slightly soured, use one-fourth teaspoon soda; if well soured, one-half teaspoon soda. Now one-fourth teaspoon soda equals one teaspoon of baking powder in leavening power. Therefore use, in addition to the soda, enough baking powder to equal in leavening power two teaspoons baking powder to the cup of flour.

Feeding Suet to Birds
Buy an electric light bulb protector, used by garage men, and over the large open end fit a quart can lid. Put two holes in it opposite each other. Wire one edge to protector through one hole, place suet inside, then through other hole put a string and tie to wire frame. This allows easy access to opening when replenishing the supply. Through the small opening, where clamp is, put a nail and fasten to tree. For another tree take a water-wave net, which has large meshes in it, gather edges together to form a bag, and put suet in it. The securely and hang to trunk of tree where branches emerge. Both will be well patronized.

Water and Soil Affect Gland

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Prevention of goiter is possible in those forms which occur in iodine-poor regions.

An extremely accurate analysis of water and soil from all parts of the United States has been made by McClendon and Williams. In Washington and Oregon goiter occurs in 15 to 30 persons per thousand of population. The amount of iodine in the native water in these regions is 1-2 part per billion gallons. Along the Atlantic seaboard the southern states goiter occurs in only one person per thousand population, and the proportion of iodine in the native waters of these regions is 3 to 20 per billion gallons. In the middle regions goiter incidence is 5 to 15, and iodine is present in 2 to 9 parts per billion.

You see the rate of occurrence of goiter rises directly with the decrease of iodine in the water. "Vegetables and grain contain from 100 to 1,000 times more iodine in goiter-free sections than in the Lake Superior region, where goiter is endemic. McClendon estimates from the amount of iodine in the water and common foods in goiterous districts that it would require 10 years for a normal adult to accumulate 40 mg. from these natural sources. This is the average amount Marine found in normal adult thyroid.—(McCollum.)

Two Cleveland physicians, Marine and Kimball, carried out extensive studies on the addition of iodine to the diet in the highly goiterous region where they live. In Akron, O., 2,190 school children were given iodine. A comparative group of 2,305 school children were allowed to go on their normal diet, without iodine added. All the children were normal at the time the experiment was begun. After a period of several years the group of children who had iodine added to the diet showed only two-tenths of one per cent of individuals with goiter. In the group which did not get iodine 27 per cent had goiter.

In children with slightly enlarged thyroids over half (57.8 per cent) had a decrease in the size of the gland at the end of a year of iodine feeding.

The amount of iodine needed is very small. The salt of iodine used is sodium iodide. Three grains are given daily for ten consecutive days, twice a year, spring and fall. In other words, 30 grains twice a year is sufficient to prevent the development of goiter in goiterous regions.

So effective is the treatment considered that in Switzerland where 100 per cent of the school children are goiterous, administration of iodine to school children is a compulsory health measure. Caution should be used in the indiscriminate and excessive use of iodine for this purpose, however. Too much may light up a slumbering thyroid and start it into activity.

The indiscriminate use of iodized salt (iodine added to table salt) cannot be recommended. While iodine is incorporated in table salt it should not be more than one part of sodium iodide to 5,000 parts of table salt. In Wexford county, Michigan, iodized salt was introduced in 1925; within 18 months the incidence of goiter had decreased 25 per cent.

Not Writing Mean Trick

—By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE—

"I think that not writing is the meanest trick one can play," writes a girl who read Jyd's letter in the column the other day. Jyd wrote in defense of boys who stopped calling on or writing to their sweethearts. It is not always loss of interest, he maintained, that makes a boy cease attentions to the girl of his dreams. Sometimes it is financial trouble. And then he is of his own plight. He was out of work, and had stopped writing to his girl friend because he could not plan for their future or take her out under the circumstances.

"Dear Virginia Lee: I was reading Jyd's letter, and I must say he surely doesn't love his 'loveliest sweetheart' as he thinks. For if he really loved the girl he would not stop writing.

"Why not be a man and tell her the reason, even though it is humiliating. Maybe she wouldn't think it half bad, and understand. I think that not writing is the meanest trick one can play. Do you think the girl will still be waiting for you when you find the 'pot of gold'?" Maybe she has found another boy friend.

"How would you know anything about her if you did not write?"

"Now, what do you think of my opinion, Virginia Lee? A constant reader.

"Of course I agree with you Brown Eyes. We have all experienced that unhappy feeling, which sometimes is actual agony, of waiting for word from a dear one that does not come. No wonder that old song, 'The Letter That She Looked for Never Came,' was popular.

It's a universal experience and a painful one. I think Jyd is treating his girl friend unfairly if he does not write and let her know he still cares. But maybe he has written since my answer to his letter appeared in the column. Or perhaps the girl friend saw his letter, guessed who it was from, wrote saying that it made no difference to her if he was unfortunate, and begging him to write.

WORRIED: If your brother-in-law is of age, you and your husband and his parents are not compelled to support him in any way. My impression is that he knows he has you all buffaloed and he is going to keep on bullying and quarreling as long as you will put up with him. I wouldn't call in the police if I were you, unless as a last resort, but I do think he should be put out of your home and you four left in peace. It is outrageous that you should be made so unhappy just because of one unscrupulous person. Insist that he leave you in peace. As long as you are afraid of his threats you will have to put up with him, and he knows it. I imagine they are only threats and you needn't fear them.

STILL SMILING: Thank you for your good wishes for the coming year. The same to you, my dear. I agree with you that "as far as girls pleasing the men, most of them are standing on their heads trying to please the boy friend every day." A little more independence would be becoming to most girls, in my estimation. I wonder if F. R. F. would be willing to admit that girls are "more thoughtful and considerate" than boys? If not at once, he'll probably meet a girl some day who will make him swear that all women are angels. Maybe the New Year will bring about that very thing and so change him, as you wish.

Train Child To Manicure Nails

—By GLADYS GLAD—

In a recent article, I spoke to you of the great influence that parents can exert over the future health and shapeliness of their offspring's feet and legs. I stressed the importance of parental care of children's feet during infancy and adolescence.

But parents can do a great deal to enhance other aspects of their children's health and loveliness. I have in mind particularly at this moment, the early care of the fingernails. Few mothers realize that the first care given a youngster's nails may make or mar the shape of the fingernails.

Ordinarily, a child's nails cannot be filed. They are far too thin and soft. A pair of scissors is generally used for the purpose of shortening the fingernails. And the majority of women make one of two errors in cutting their children's nails. Either the mother cuts the fingernails straight across, or else, because of her desire that her daughter have beautiful, oval-shaped nails, she cuts far down at the sides of the nails.

The first of these wrong methods is likely to square the natural growth of the top of the nail at the end. The second method cannot fail to broaden the nail. Expert manicuring can add a great deal in making the square-topped or wide nail appear to be oval. But it is far preferable for the nails to be trained to the perfect oval.

The nail, when cut, should be rounded at the tip, and should be quite short. Owing to the strenuous play of children, nails left long are bound to tear or break, and the square top may result. A nail torn to the quick may never again regain its original shape. Nails should never be cut far down at the sides, into the pink part. This practice promotes the growth outward along the line that is cut, and gives an additional and unhealthy width to the nail.

A child should be taught to repair a ragged, rough-edged nail immediately, or to ask her mother to repair it for her. For often children acquire the nail biting habit as a result of rough-edged nails. And once a child has acquired this deplorable habit it is often most difficult to break her of it.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

Really, now, if we hadn't recognized the handwriting as being the same as before, we would have almost believed there exist two persons who sometimes, whether by design or accident, read this column, or rather, half-column, as of late it has been deteriorating as to length, at least.

Two letters in the brief space of one month are something to get excited about we'll tell the globe.

Whereas the first letter, as we recall it, was somewhat antagonistic, the latest epistle bespeaks such a humble attitude on the part of our favorite correspondent and severest critic that we are inclined to be suspicious. Our suspicions are invariably aroused whenever anyone—seldom though it is—chances to agree with whatever we have to say on any subject whatsoever.

The following day after getting all worked up into a lather about the attitude taken by fans toward basketball officials, the mail brought a letter written in such a meek vein that the feeling grows upon us that our leg is being pulled.

Addressed to the "most brave" sport editor, the letter runs along in this fashion:

"I, this day, write you in all humility, after reading your column in the January 14 issue of The Gazette, on the 'Behavior of Local Fans Toward Officials.' I ask pardon, if by reason of my ignorance, I have been wanting in the manners that befit a game. Your thesis on 'Behaviorism' has opened my eyes, and I hope the eyes of all the gentlemen and ladies who attend basketball games, whether at home or abroad, to heed what the most sincere sports editor hath said (I like that 'hath')."

"Why cannot we have friendly rivalry in our sports? Rivalry spurs us on to high endeavor. The success of Xenia Central's basketball team is a community asset and a common glory. We have a great team and much will rightfully be expected of it and us as a community, backing our team to the last loyal citizen."

"We have become a great city by the fact we have great basketball teams, and we should behave as becomens a people with such responsibility—as to our attitude toward all other schools, large and small, and toward our officials."

"Our attitude should be one of cordial and sincere kindness. We should show not only in our words but in our deeds that we are earnestly desirous of securing their goodwill by acting toward them in a spirit of generous recognition of all their rights and decisions."

"While ever careful to refrain from wronging others, we must be no less insistent that we are not wronging ourselves!"

"The referee's task is not easy—no task worth doing is easy. I think I hear a voice from the honest fans of Xenia—declaring they will treat all visiting teams and officials as they themselves would want to be treated and never again will they 'razz' an official—at least until Friday night this week at Troy, O."

Well, well, well. Honestly, we did not dream that the power of our little column exerted such a tremendous influence upon its lone reader. We are blushing furiously. It just goes to show that great minds like ours and that of our reader frequently run in the same channels. Our words, which at the time we thought were rather futile, have taken on great weight overnight—tipping the scales at 150 pounds in their striking effect and elevating them from the fly-weight to the heavyweight class as it were. That, however, is beside the question.

Anyway, we are sincerely glad our reader, at least, has seen the light and that her (or his) attitude toward officials in the future will be glowing with extreme high-mindedness—at least "until Friday night this week at Troy, O." as the letter points out.

Lang Falcons Beat Harmon Hall Five 53 To 39

STRONG OFFENSIVE UNCORKED BY XENIA IN RETURN CONTEST

LeSourd Shows Way;
Penny Girls Are Victims In Opener

PUTTING in the last half after leading by only four points at the intermission, the Lang Chevrolet Falcons duplicated an early season victory over the Harmon Hall quintet of Lebanon by a margin of 53 to 39 in a furiously fought return basketball tilt on the state armory floor Thursday night.

Getting away to a five-point advantage at the offset, the Lebanon five, reinforced by the addition of "Chuck" Weimer, former Wilmington College all-round athlete, to its lineup, led at the close of the first period, 9 to 8, but during the remaining three quarters the Falcons ran their opponents bow-legged.

The Xenia basketekers were ahead at the half, 23 to 19 and this advantage was expanded to 34 to 24 at the third quarter pole.

Bill LeSourd and "Pinky" Williams, Falcon forwards, between them tallied only one point less than the entire Harmon Hall team. LeSourd had a field day, scoring nine baskets and three fouls for a grand total of twenty-one points, while "Pinky" was not far behind with seventeen counters, including eight fielders and a free throw.

Williams, forward, was the sharpshooter for the visitors, hitting the net seven times from the field and once from the foul line for fifteen points. Weimer contributed nine points and Coyne and Preston, each seven.

The contest became somewhat rough in the second half, the players viewing the ball as only an annoyance to be kicked out of the way as much as possible. In order to devote their attention to the important business of the meeting, assault and battery. A survey, disclosed, however, the casualty list was not large.

In a preliminary the Dayton Foresters feminine team applied the whitewash brush to Coach Paul Fuller's Xenia-Pennsy Railroad girls' team, winning 27 to 0. The visiting team was far more experienced and physically superior to the local girls. Weingard, captain and forward, played a good floor game for the Pennsy girls but lacked co-operation. Lineups:

WIN FROM SPRING VALLEY HIGH TEAM

Central Junior High basketekers annexed another victory to their unmarred string of court triumphs this season Thursday afternoon, when they defeated the Spring Valley High juniors 21 to 14 on the latter's floor in a practice game.

Coach Patterson's boys jumped into the lead at the outset of the battle and were never headed throughout the contest although their lead was in danger on one or two occasions. Central juniors held an 8 to 5 advantage at the close of the first period and were still leading by three points at the close of the first half, the score being 12 to 9. Latimer, acting captain, led the attack of the winners with twelve points to his credit. Compton and Smith were the shining lights for the losers.

ANTIOCH ALUMNI STILL GOOD

Stepping out of his role of basketball coach at Antioch College, Merrill Dawson starred for an Antioch alumni cage team which administered a 37 to 29 drubbing to the Division "B" varsity quintet of the college Wednesday night.

Coach Dawson, himself a former Antioch court star, and Teegarden, who graduated last June, were outstanding in the alumni lineup, sharing high scoring honors.

The Antioch variety enjoyed a four-point advantage at the half but the grads made up this deficit and won with plenty of room to spare in the second period. Cooley, Jams and Roosa performed well for the varsity.

Having lost two games in a row—the first to Urbana Junior College a week ago—Antioch basketekers will play their first away-from-home game of the season Tuesday night next week, visiting Richmond, Ind., for a game with "Slim" Gullion's Earlham College quintet.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Extreme dullness prevailed in all sections of the stock market this morning.

The "amateur bears," the cubs of the stock market, renewed their sniping fire against a few of the industrials and utilities as the result of which occasional weak spots developed. Bethlehem Steel dipped under 49 and American Iron was forced momentarily under 107, but both stocks recovered in the second hour. Bonds were regular and commodity markets fairly steady.

Absence of specific business and financial news discouraged participation in the stock market by the small army of traders now standing on the side lines.

CONVICTED, MAN IS SENTENCED TO PEN

Indicted by the grand jury for cutting his son, Earl, 21, with intent to kill at their home on E. Third St. November 16 last, Albert Clark, 56, colored, was found guilty by a jury in Common Pleas Court Thursday. Attorney E. D. Smith, defense counsel, waived the right to file a motion for a new trial and Judge R. L. Gowdy immediately sentenced Clark to serve a minimum term of one year and a maximum of twenty years in Ohio Penitentiary.

Dr. Chas. Leslie Lewis Says

"I TRIED FLAXOLYN MYSELF Its Power to Do the Body Good Really Surprised Me"

Dr. Chas. L. Lewis of Pittsburgh writes: "When I was first retained to pass upon the merits of Flaxolyn, I must confess I was mighty skeptical about the claims made for it."

"Being rather run down myself at the time, and recognizing the symptoms of auto-intoxication, I decided to try Flaxolyn. I felt that if it did not do me any good at least it could not do me any harm."

"I want to tell you now that I am well satisfied that Flaxolyn has genuine merit—it acts on stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels in a natural, efficient way."

"As a rule I do not endorse any internal preparation, but I am so well satisfied that Flaxolyn can do an immense amount of good for the people here, I am perfectly willing to allow my name to be used in an open endorsement of Flaxolyn."

HOW FLAXOLYN HELPS YOU:

1. Flaxolyn is a splendid Stomachic. Sharpens the appetite. Helps you get more nourishment out of your food.
2. Flaxolyn helps Liver by activating bile.
3. Flaxolyn is a gentle diuretic for the Kidneys, giving these organs extra stimulus to drive out waste or irritants.
4. Flaxolyn acts naturally on the entire Intestinal Canal, due to its Spanish Licorice, Sacred Bark, Arabian Senna, and other good old-fashioned herbs.

We make this sensational offer: Try Flaxolyn today. Unless you are heartily satisfied with your improvement by the sixth pleasant spoonful, return partly used bottle and get your money back. Thousands have been benefited by Flaxolyn. Why not you too? Cost is little.

exceptionally good. Monday morning the meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Walter St. John and opened with all singing America followed by prayer by Rev. Trueblood. The high school entertained with threesons and Eloise Rittenour a reading. Others who appeared on the program were Mrs. Burgess Leach and Naomi Leach, who sang at the opening of the afternoon session. Mrs. J. W. Cherry also sang two numbers at night. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Spahr sang two selections. Rachel Jones gave two musical readings, a solo by Martha Ann Baughn, a quartet of high school boys of Bowersville sang several selections, and several selections by the Georgetown Band. Mrs. Phillip's subject at night was "Home" and Mr. Pollock talked on "Why Are We Farmers."

The Tuesday morning session opened with prayer by Dr. Gray and a song by Margaret Nelson and Mildred Sams. Alberta Moorman and Leah Glass entertained with piano music and two interesting talks by the speakers. Afternoon—Harriet Reeder entertained with piano music. Mr. Batterman gave two selections on the trombone and Mrs. Phillip talked on "Recreation" and Mr. Pollock on "Feeding Hogs for Pork Production." Resolutions were read in regard to the death of the institute president, Mr. O. D. Clark and the new officers were elected. They are as follows: Mr. Frank Gordon, president; Mr. Roscoe Turner, vice president; Mrs. Mondy Barner, corresponding secretary, Miss Nellie Morsman, secretary and treasurer. The session was dispersed with lively discussions and a general good time enjoyed.

CHRIST THE EMPIRE BUILDER

"I think I understand somewhat of human nature," said Napoleon Bonaparte, "and I tell you that Jesus Christ was more than man. Alexander, Caesar, Charlemagne and myself founded great empires; but upon what did the creatures of our genius depend? Upon force. Jesus alone founded his empire on Love, and to this day millions would die for Him."

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

Jesus in his days of meditation after his baptism had evidently reached some definite conclusions for his life; however, reaching decisions does not mean the end of perplexities; often after decisions are made, temptations to re-open questions and periods of doubt follow. The three temptations here recorded are suggestions for ways and means easier to follow than the paths of his great decisions.

V. 1 "And Jesus full of the Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led in the Spirit in the wilderness." No one is safe from temptation but when the Spirit leads one may have confidence of victory when facing the hardest situation.

V. 2 "During forty days, being tempted of the devil, and he did eat nothing in those days; and when they were completed he hungered." The devil is a personality expressed through or in some living being; there was conversation with the devil which called for personality; it is quite likely that Jesus had many temptations but only three are recorded, and these most appealing. It was natural that after forty days of fasting there would be a hunger appeal.

V. 3 "And the devil said unto him, if thou art the Son of God, command this stone that it become bread." The word "if" the sign of doubt was first projected; doubt is the first step away from God. This is a physical temptation appealing to the sense of hunger typical of all incitements of sin through the physical nature. For Christ this was a temptation of self gratification.

V. 4 "And Jesus answered unto him, it is written, man shall not live by bread alone." Jesus met each temptation with the Bible which he had learned in childhood and youth; it is the sword of the Spirit.

V. 5, 6, 7 "And he led him up and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time. And the devil said unto him, to thee will I give all this authority, and the glory of them; for it hath been delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will give it. If thou therefore wilt worship before me, it shall be all thine." Here is a temptation for a short cut. Many have fallen to appeals of get rich schemes—a short cut—and have lost all. Men want the kingdom at a stroke. The way of righteous getting, of slow growth, of patient toil and sacrifice is not to our liking.

V. 8 "And Jesus answered and said unto him, it is written, thou shalt worship the Lord thy God and Him only thou shalt serve."

The secret of success in the Christian life is to truly worship God.

Vs. 9, 10, 11 "And he led him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple; and said unto him, if thou art the Son of God, cast thyself down thence; for it is written, he shall give his angels charge concerning thee to guard thee; and on their hands they shall bear thee up, lest haply thou dash thy foot against a stone." Satan now quoted scripture incorrectly after the words "to guard thee." No credit can be given Bible argument when taken out of its setting. This temptation is the opposite of the first; in the first the temptation was not to trust God enough, this one is to trust God beyond reason, thus being presumptuous.

V. 12 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 13 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 14 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 15 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 16 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 17 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 18 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 19 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 20 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 21 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 22 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 23 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

V. 24 "And Jesus answering said unto him, it is said, thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God." This statement is equivalent to saying, "I will have nothing to do with you." Here is one's safety when tempted.

God first and to earnestly strive for it; give us evidence that when we have done our best in a righteous struggle, that divine help is at our command."

BOOK REVIEW
"The Basis of Belief" by Ballantine, Crowell Publishing Co. fills a very definite need for a clear explanation of the profound principles that lie at the basis of all scientific reasoning.

"The Stream of History" by Parsons, Charles Scribner's Sons, relates in a concise and simple manner the whole story of man and his earth, presenting the various interpretations placed upon major historic events.

At a recent meeting of the committee of the Presbyterian board of education it was revealed that more men than ever are taking up the ministry as a calling in the Presbyterian Church. In twelve theological schools more than 900 more men enrolled than last year.

What are some guiding principles in the program building for the young people of the church?

The following are some of the guiding principles in building a program for young people:

(1) The program should be locally built; one of the mistakes of the past was the effort to pass on from some official headquarters a program already made. (2) It should be made an integral part of the educational plan of the church.

(3) It should be planned by the young people themselves with the counsel of responsible adults. It is their organization. It must be conducted in keeping with their wishes. It must deal with issues pertinent to their lives. (4) In building the program, the local society needs to take into account the suggestions of national, community and state fellowships. (5) There must be unity in the society program. Discussion, worship and service undertakings must contribute to the enrichment of life as a whole. All phases of common endeavor need to be worked out together and must be consistent with each other, as well as harmonious with the larger educational schemes of the church. (6) The program must be conceived in terms of vital enterprises. First, there is the method of following a series of unrelated topics; second, there is the method of having a "monthly emphasis" which applies in the discussion and worship and service fields. (7) It is well to outline a year's program at one time. (8) The details of the program should be planned for a quarter of year at one time.

EXTENSION COURSE IS OFFERED HERE

An invitation is being extended to all persons interested in college extension work to meet at the Court House with the extension group, under Pro. J. E. Collins, of Miami University, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

This class offers an opportunity for teachers and superintendents to pursue additional courses in elementary work, bachelor's and master's levels. The class is proving popular with teachers of the county and plans for the work of the second semester will be discussed at Tuesday night's meeting.

Can Throw! Duck!

Throwing things is the forte of Miss Gloria Russell, 18, above, of Berkeley, Cal. She holds the world's record for the baseball throw (258 feet), second place in the javelin throw and third place in the discus throw in the open amateur groups for women. She now is in training for the Los Angeles Olympic trials in June.

Little Hope Held for Missing Ocean Fliers

Hope that the transatlantic "pay off" aviators, Mrs. Beryl Hart and William S. MacLaren, are still alive, has been virtually abandoned from them since they took off from Hamilton, Bermuda, for Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, on the second lap of their flight.

in the monoplane, Tradewind, from New York to Paris by way of Bermuda and the Azores. Storms prevail over a wide section of the Atlantic, according to reports from ships at sea.

The Theater

This department would, in the future, like to see more pictures in which appear Evelyn Brent, Ruth Chatterton, Mitzi Green, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, H. B. Warner, John Boles, Wallace Beery and Robert Montgomery. And fewer featuring Clara Bow, Stanley Smith, Raymond Hackett, Gary Cooper and John Wayne.

It's all a matter of opinion of course, but you don't have to be an expert critic to know that a lot of film people are "getting by" on their looks and reputation, rather than on their ability. Raymond Hackett and Gary Cooper both have ability, of course, but seem not to strike your correspondent the right way.

On the other hand it is difficult to see why the studios, which make such a point of looking for talent and being so strict in their tests, should pick up a young college boy like John Wayne and make a star out of him when he acts like a high school boy in a class play. Further this boy admits he can't act.

But what this is all about, is an opportunity to say a kind word for Evelyn Brent, who, in the opinion of your correspondent, has all the "It" that Clara Bow is supposed to have and hasn't.

There is some difficulty about Evelyn right now. Her contract with Columbia has just been dissolved after her husband, Harry Edwards, made a trip to New York to confer with Harry Cohen on the matter. She had made one picture for Columbia and had two more to go. Here's hoping she gets a connection that will insure her the first-class opportunities she deserves.

After dubbing round at RKO, which had the original vision to sign him but not the confidence to follow it up, young Joel McCrea is commencing to gain recognition and is promised as the next young hero to make the girls' hearts flutter.

Radio Pictures is leading him to Pathe, which it now owns of course, to play opposite Constance Bennett in "Lost Love." In view of Miss Bennett's growing popularity, this is a feather in the actor's cap. Fox recently borrowed him and was quick to recognize his possibilities, giving him the juvenile lead in "Lightnin'" which is now playing in Xenia, and following it up with a lead opposite Dorothy Mackaill. McCrea is taller than most leading men, except, perhaps, Grady Withers, and is the athletic type.

Irvy Cummings is quitting Fox because of illness and because of inability to find a story that suits him. Upon Cummings' request the contract was torn up, but the first suitable story that turns up will lead to his recall. Usually when it is reported that a director and a company have broken a contract by mutual consent, it is natural to suspect that all is not being told, but in this case, the story is reported to be true.

Mayor Dodds will no longer permit snow racing on Second St. because of the traffic congestion it causes at Detroit and Second Sts. He suggests that Market St. be used instead, so that street will be known as the snow "speedway" in the future.

Population of various Greene County villages follows: Yellow Springs, 1,260; Jamestown, 1,133; Cedarville, 1,059; Yellow Springs lost eleven, Jamestown seventy-two, and Cedarville 130 in the last ten years.

IMMIGRATION, especially as it affects the employment situation in this country, will be discussed by William N. Doak, secretary of labor, in a National Radio Forum address arranged by the Washington Star Saturday evening. The program will be over the CBS network and will be heard over station WKRC, Cincinnati, at 9:30 p. m.

Since succeeding Senator James J. Davis in the cabinet, Secretary Doak has shown a great interest in immigration laws, and it is expected that he will give a further expression of his ideas on the question when he talks Saturday evening.

Traveling Man Tells Health Secret

Philadelphia, Pa.—L. Lambertson of this city, traveling salesman, is widely known for his exuberant health. Knowing the hurried life travelers must lead, it is all the more surprising. Interviewed recently, Mr. Lambertson said "I find that travel, with its irregular hours and change of food, tends to constipate. For that reason, a bottle of Pluto Water is always in my bag. I find that it affords speedy relief, even in the most stubborn cases. I recommend Pluto to every man who travels a great deal."

Pluto Water is invaluable, not only as a relief from constipation, but as a preventive. Take a small quantity each morning upon arising, diluted
